FARES GO UP AGAIN.

Local Division of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company Advances Fare to Twenty Cents Between Andover and Lawrence.

Revised fares on the Lawrence Division of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway went into effect Wednesday and the flat cash fare to Lawrence was increased to twenty cents. The nine rides for $1.00 and twelve rides for $1.00 have been withdrawn and a fourteen-ride ticket for $1.00 substituted. This ticket can be used only when traveling through two zones and is good for a ride between Andover Hill and Ware street. It can be punched twice for a ride to Lawrence which will make the cost to the rider fourteen and two-sevenths cents. With the old rate ticket the cost was eleven and one-ninth cents and the flat cash fare fifteen cents.

The fare to Heading will be four fourteen for $1.00 punches and the cash fare will be forty cents. The fare to Boston will be seven fourteen for $1.00 punches and ten cents cash on the elevated from Malden or eighty cents in cash.

Transfers will be discontinued, single fares, both ticket and cash being good to the traffic center only.

Withdrawn or changed tickets will not be good for fares after Tuesday.

AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

Truck Left Without Lights Causes Smash-up on Reading Road. Machines are Badly Damaged.

A truck left stranded without lights near Ballardvale road caused the wrecking of two other machines on Monday evening. Fortunately no one was seriously injured.

Because of the rain the driver of the first automobile did not see the truck until he was close upon it and struck the left front hub tearing out the side of his machine. Just as the occupants of the car, Ernest S. Pratt, privates Henry Boucher and George H. Mason of the 12th C. A. C., Fort Banks, Winthrop, were about to get out of their car, a second automobile owned by Ernest A. Taylor of 81 Main street, Brookline, drove into Pratt's disabled machine throwing the men into the road.

The front of the first machine was completely wrecked and all the cars

BIG REPUBLICAN RALLY

Next Friday Night Will Mark Opening of the Political Campaign in Andover. Fine List of Speakers Secured.

The first gun in the local Republican drive for the coming election will be fired on the evening of Friday, September 24th when a big Rally has been planned. This Rally will be of especial importance as Bartlett H. Hayes, who has charge of the Republican League, has secured an excellent list of speakers and in addition Andover voters will again be glad to welcome Albert E. Brown, the well-known song leader who recently made a great hit at the banquet in the Town Hall.

The speakers will be Samuel Spring of Boston, a graduate of Phillips Academy and at present a prominent Boston attorney, James Jackson, the present State Treasurer and a candidate for re-election and Miss Frances Nevin, one of the most prominent women in political circles in Massachusetts. These speakers all enjoy a reputation for their masterful way in presenting facts for consideration before their audiences and should draw a large number to listen to them. In addition Mr. Brown's reputation for his songs will be a great attraction.

The following rules in regard to the high school were also adopted:

That the committee rule that promotion from grade to grade or from one school to another be conditional on the student's maintaining his rank in the new grade; and that failure to do this may result in return to the grade below.

That in such cases as occur when a student's afternoon work seems to interfere with his progress in school, the parents be notified that a choice must be made between such work and the school and that the committee assert its right to make any reasonable demand on the pupils' time, morning and afternoon.

That the school board assure the

One thousand, one hundred and eleven children were enrolled in Andover's public schools this week. Of these, two hundred and twenty-six were pupils in the Pynchard High School, eighty-five entering as freshmen. This is the largest number of pupils ever attending the high school.

At a special meeting of the School Committee held last Friday night, it was voted to secure the services of another male teacher at the Pynchard School as soon as the financial arrangements can be made. This has been made necessary by the compulsory course in history and civics introduced by the State Board of Education.

MAJESTIC

D. W. Griffith's picture of Lottie Blair Parker's classic, rural play "Way Down East" has, according to the critics of New York scored another triumph for the master producer equally as great as "The Birth of a Nation" and "Hearts of the World."

It opened at the 44th Street Theatre, New York, on Friday evening, September 3rd, and was accorded the most enthusiastic reception ever given a picture production in that city. The big scene of the play brought the entire audience to its feet.

The Griffith production of "Way Down East" will inaugurate the producer's second annual Boston season at the Majestic Theatre on Monday evening, September 20th, with two performances daily thereafter.

The cast includes Lillian Gish, Richard Barthelmess, Mary Hay, Burr McIntosh, Lowell Sherman, Greighton Hale, Mrs. Morgan Belmont, Kate Bruce, Edgar Nelson, George Neville, Vivian Ogden, Porter Strong, Josephine Bernard, Mrs. David Landau, Patricia Freun, Florence Short, Emily Fitzoy and Myrtle Sulech.

Mr. Griffith's production of "Way Down East" represents ten months' work of the most exacting character, for in his screen version of the story he has endeavored to follow closely the narrative of the stage play with here and there a digression for the purposes of dramatic value or elaboration.

"Way Down East" is said to be the biggest production Mr. Griffith has made since "Hearts of the World." It contains 12,000 feet of film and the better part of three hours will be consumed in unfolding the story. Several Griffith innovations are promised, including a thrilling snow storm and a genuine New England ice break on the Connecticut River.

FARES INCREASED

September 14th, but may be redeemed at places to be announced.

The increased wage scale given street car conductors and motormen entailing an annual additional expense in the Lawrence Division of $120,000 and $11,000 in back pay retroactive to May first, the award of the arbitration board in the carmen's demand for increased wages, is given as the cause of the increased fares by the public trustees of the road.

The employees of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company were awarded a twenty-one and one-half percent increase in wages by the board of arbitration.

The scale of wages with the wage increases is as follows: Those employed three months, from forty-six cents to fifty-six cents per hour; those employed between nine and twelve months, forty-nine to fifty-nine cents per hour; those employed over twelve months, fifty-one to sixty-two cents per hour.

Special provision has been made for the operators of one-man cars. There are some 200 of these on the lines of the company. They have been awarded an extra increase of five cents per hour over the pay of the regular motormen and conductors. It was the problem is to what larger pay should be awarded the operators of one-man cars that began the arbitration proceedings back in December of 1919, the problem concerning a general wage increase to all the employees of the road being drawn into the proceedings as events developed.

Since then, December, 1919, Philip G. Carleton of Cambridge, for the Company; James H. Vahcy of Watertown, for the workers and Hugh W. Ogden of Brookline, the neutral arbitrator, have been in long and frequent conferences, holding hearings and investigating economic and working conditions, until the final testimony having been taken, a decision was reached.

The award, regarded as one of the largest ever made in street railway cases, nevertheless means that the employees of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company receive eight cents less in pay per hour than the employees of the Boston Elevated.

The decision of the board is to remain effective one year, from May 1, 1920, to May 1, 1921. The hours of labor remain unchanged.

In the main report, submitted by Mr. Ogden, he maintained that no party appearing before the board "claimed that the men are now paid any more than a fair living wage." He pointed out that the wage scale of fourteen other street railway systems in New England has been put in evidence which are now paying blue uniformed men various amounts up to sixty cents an hour. Detroit pays seventy-five cents, Chicago eighty cents and Boston seventy cents.

The average wage of the regular conductors and motormen on the system of the company is now, says the report, $1488.71 per annum, and of the men working 325 days or more per annum $1638.16 per annum.

Will Advise Teachers in Regard to Personal Finances.

In connection with its plan for greatly extending the teaching of thrift in the public, parochial and private schools all over New England, the Savings Division of the First Federal Reserve District also has undertaken to advise teachers in regard to their personal finances. Miss S. Agnes Donham, associate director of the Division, and Schuyler F. Heron, educational director, have prepared and will send free to teachers suggestions for budgets, varying according to the amount of income.

A foot note, under the budget for teachers receiving $600 a year, says that this is not a "living salary," that the teacher must either live at home or have some other income, and therefore makes no allowance at all for shelter. The $800 budget is "barely a living salary," allowing but $108 a year for shelter. With shelter left out the $600 budget shows that a teacher may be able to save $12.00 a year and double that on the $800 budget. The saving that on the $1000 budget is $36.00 a year, for a $1200, $60.00; for $1400, $96.00; for $1600, $132.00; for $1800, $204.00, and for the $2000 budget, $240.00. All except the lowest budget have items covering War Savings Stamps to be set aside each year for an emergency fund for the teacher's benefit, arranging from one for the $800 to twelve for the $2000 teacher.

The Division proposes to extend the thrift work in the schools along new lines this year, and as more than $1,000,000 was put into Thrift Stamps and War Savings Stamps by the pupils of New England during the past school year, and as much more into savings banks, the broadening of the movement gives great promise. During the latter part of 1918-19 the thrift work in the schools dropped considerably, but during the past school year, according to Mr. Heron, the idea has been accepted quite generally that thrift is as important in peace as in war. Previously, he says, children bought War Savings Stamps to help win the war, but now throughout New England there is an entirely different sentiment in regard to thrift, and it is recognized as a permanent feature of school work.

In connection with its budget work, the Division also is prepared to make suggestions for sound investments for teachers. The whole idea now being followed out is twofold; to help the teachers handle their own finances and to incorporate thrift instruction in the schools. A revised outline for teaching thrift has been prepared this summer and now is ready for distribution. Rev. Augustus F. Hickey of the Cathedral School, in charge of the parochial schools in the Boston Archdiocese has approved the outline as the basis for the instruction in thrift this year. All of the state departments in New England have approved of this outline, and it has been generally adopted by the local authorities for use in the public schools of New England.

Private schools also have taken up the Division's plan. Emphatic is being laid on the "Happy Jack Thrift Clubs" and the school savings societies, the former being used in the primary grades.

Five Minute Chats on Our Presidents

By JAMES MORGAN

A NEW EPOCH

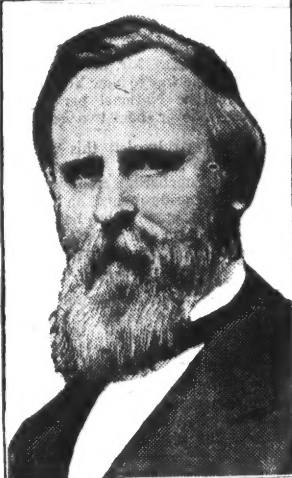

1877—April, President Hayes withdrew Federal troops from Southern State capitals.
 Banished a'coholic liquors from the White House.
 June and July, ordered out Federal troops in the great railway strike.
 1878—Vetoed Silver bill, which was passed over his veto.
 1879—Specie payments resumed.
 1893—Jan. 17, death of Hayes at Fremont, O., aged 70.

THE tidal wave which swept down the Republicans in the congressional elections of 1874 still was running so strongly in the campaign of 1876 that Rutherford B. Hayes himself never was confident of his success. Nor was the country surprised to read in the headlines the morning after election that Tilden, the Democratic candidate, had won the race.

The Republican national headquarters in New York City shut up shop early election night, and the Republican campaign managers went to bed resigned to defeat.

Tilden was elected on the face of the returns, with 203 electoral votes to 106 for Hayes, and had also a plurality of 250,000 in the popular vote. His election indeed rested on the same basis as Cleveland's in 1884 and Wilson's in 1916. But in 1876 the Republicans had not yet acquiesced in the suppression of the negro vote in the South. And if the negroes had not been "persuaded" by various means from going to the polls, Tilden could not have been elected.

Both the Republicans and the Democrats claimed to have carried Louisiana, South Carolina and Florida, and from those states two sets of returns were sent to Washington. Who should decide between them? The Constitution provides merely that the president of the senate shall, in the presence of the senate and house, open the certificates, "and the votes shall then be counted."

But when there are two sets of votes, who shall say which shall be counted? "The president of the senate," answered the Republicans because the president of the senate was a Republican. "The two houses," said the Democrats, because one of the houses was Democratic.

Compromise was necessary to save the government from chaos and the country from another Civil war. The bitter dispute was left to 15 men, one-third of whom were senators and another third were representatives, equally divided between the parties. To guarantee a calm, judicial decision the remaining third were justices of the Supreme court.

Nevertheless, the commission proceeded to decide every essential question in favor of Hayes by a strict party vote of 8 to 7. Alas, the partisan zeal of that feverish hour burned just as fiercely beneath the gowns of the justices as under the frock coats of the legislators.

The judgment of the commission was without force in law until adopted by the two opposing houses, and some disappointed Democrats in the house balked at ratifying the decision against Tilden. But representatives of Hayes whispered to certain southern Democrats in a secret conference at Wormley's hotel that if they would let the Republicans have the presidency, the Republican president would let them have their own state governments. The bargain having been struck, it was kept. After a turbulent night session of the house the result of the election was declared at four o'clock in the morning of March 2, 1877. Just 56 hours before the inauguration.

For three months Hayes himself had been alternating from day to day between expectation of success and defeat. Even when he started for Washington on March 1 he was still so uncertain that he frankly told the people of Columbus in his parting speech that he might be back with them and in the governor's chair again in less than a week.

HE serves his party best who serves his country best. With those watchwords Hayes had sacrificed himself and his administration to reunite North and South, to cleanse the civil service and to regenerate the Republican party. So quietly, so coldly, so unobtrusively did he go about all those great objects that he remained to the end of his term one of the most misunderstood most underestimated presidents, the Republican leaders hating him as an apostate and the Democrats despising him as a fraud.

He selected one of the most distinguished cabinets in history. But he did it without consulting party leaders or considering the claims of factions, and the offended senate threatened and muttered for nearly a week before it confirmed the nominations. To the disgust of "practical politicians" he "threw away" a high-class foreign mission on a man like James Russell Lowell, "a dashed literary feller," as Senator Cameron said, and he enraged Roscoe Conkling by flinging the political machine of the imperious senator out of the federal offices in New York city. He would also have made a start toward

New Idea in Ventilation.
 The Ayrton antigens fan, which, according to Munsey's Magazine, may revolutionize all our systems of ventilation, is based on the principle that a fan should be brought down sharply from the perpendicular to the horizontal, and thus drive the air forward in steady puffs and set up a fresh current from the rear. The inventor, who is an Englishwoman, has given public demonstrations in London with glass models of dugouts and tunnels from which the fan readily expels the smoke. At one demonstration, Mrs. Ayrton, with a three-inch fan, sat at one end of a six-foot table while smoke poured forth from a funnel at the other end. The action of the miniature fan not only dispelled the smoke but quickly gained such control over it that it prevented it from coming out of the funnel. The fan works on the hinge-and-spring principle and is constructed of light material. It has been used successfully in factories, theaters, mines and sewers.—Youth's Companion.

Humming Bird Housekeeping

"In a little over two days the home was finished and no time was lost in moving in," says R. I. Brasher, relating the story of a humming bird family in "A Gallant in Ruby and Gold," published in the July number of Boys' Life. "On the third morning a peep through the binoculars revealed a tiny white egg almost exactly the shape and size of a bean, lying snugly in the downy bed. The next morning another peep revealed alongside and I caught Sir Ruby perched on the side of the nest looking, it seemed to me, somewhat mystified at the treasures. The so-called head of the Ruby-throat family has a very bad habit of losing all interest in subsequent proceedings, deserting his wife and home after, and sometimes before, the eggs are laid, so I fully expected this particular gallant to follow precedent and disappear.

"While he lingered there, wondering what those two white objects could possibly mean, he was rudely awakened by a sudden dart of emerald driving straight at him. Did he turn and fly? No, indeed! Off he slid and up on the first dizzy turn of the courtship half circle, while she, from a point directly above the nest, slowly sank down on the eggs. Up and down he went a dozen times, always facing her as he went past the nest. Here was an interesting variation from the conventionally indifferent male Ruby-throat, and thereafter every opportunity which offered found the glasses following the little pair. Tom, a capable architect and builder Mrs. Emerald Ruby-throat fell naturally into the role of an efficient New England housewife and like many of them after marriage, tolerated no more sentimental nonsense."

Busy Telephone Lines

Out of 5300 daily telephone calls in Andover over 450 result in a report of busy lines.

This is largely due to the fact that when subscribers receive a "line busy" report they frequently repeat their call at intervals of a few seconds.

Making repeated calls for a busy line means much unnecessary work at the switchboard and a wasteful use of lines and equipment.

It will assist in maintaining good telephone service if subscribers wait a few minutes after receiving the "line busy" report before making a second call.

NORTH ANDOVER

Monday, September 13—Following the example of the American Woolen Co., and more recently the Arlington, Monomac and Acadia mills, the M. T. Stevens and Sons company of North Andover, have announced an insurance plan free of cost to the employees of their six mills. The free life insurance policies are to be based on the term of service of the employees. Those working for less than a year for the company are given policies valued at $750. Each six months' service over a year brings an increase to the amount so that those of more than four and one-half years' service are entitled to $1500 policies. New employees will be given the same protection after three months' continuous service. The company employs about 2000 and owns six mills: two in North Andover; Mariand Mills, Andover; Pentucket Mills, Haverhill; Franklin Mills, Franklin Falls, N. H.; and Peacedale Mills, R. I.—At a special meeting of the registrars of voters, held Friday evening at the Red Cross rooms, Chairman F. Orris Rea, presiding, the names of 73 won on were placed on the voting list. One man was also registered. There are now 398 female voters in North Andover.—Contractor Edward Adams of Milk street has sold to Miss Mary T. Cass of Woonsocket, R. I., a large and fine tract of land on the western side of Massachusetts avenue, in the Centre containing 1,300,000 square feet. The land has a frontage of about 1500 feet on Massachusetts avenue. Miss Cass has purchased the property, it is understood, for development.

Tuesday, September 14—The Farnham district of North Andover was visited by prohibition agents last evening and in the woods about a half mile from Chestnut street, in a wooden shack owned by Henri Dubois, a still and a quantity of mash were found. The revenue officers were assisted in their search by Inspector Fred Lanen of the Lawrence police and Chief Walter E. Towne of the town police. Although the still was not found in operation it is alleged by the police that it was being used for the purpose of making "moonshine." The still and the mash were destroyed. No arrests were made.

LAWRENCE

Monday, Sept. 13—The board of registrars of voters decided Friday to have special sessions for the registration of women voters in schools in the different sections of the city so that the women would not be compelled to make the trip to City Hall, where all registration sessions have been held in the past. The new plan will undoubtedly result in the registration of many more hundreds of women than would be the case if they had to register at City Hall.—Effective Sunday, September 12th, change was made in the Lawrence-Salem route, whereby a change of cars is necessary at Danvers square. Passengers from Lawrence to Salem will make connections with the Danvers-Salem cars, and passengers from Salem to Lawrence, by taking a car from Town House square, Salem, at quarter past the hour will connect at Danvers square with the car from Lawrence.—Another mill corporation has fallen in line in granting free life insurance policies to its employees and Monday, September 13th, the Everett Mills will put the plan into effect.—One of the greatest orators in the United States, Senator Borah of Idaho, will be one of the big guns who will help to formally inaugurate the Republican national campaign in the East. He will speak in the Lawrence city hall on the 24th of this month, Alderman Maloney having secured the hall for that night in behalf of the Republican state committee.—Preliminary plans were made for the Columbus Day celebration and the dedication of the Riding Park at a conference held in City Hall between Mayor White and the officers and executive committee of the American Legion. It was planned to hold the largest parade ever held in this city and school children, all the fraternal and social organizations of this city, and all the ex-service men in Essex county will be invited to participate in the celebration. The Legion is working in conjunction with the City Council to make preparations for the affair. The parade will be held in the morning and in the afternoon the dedication of the Riding Park will take place. It was planned to have horse racing, athletic events and a ball game. Refreshments will be served to out-of-city ex-service men. In the evening a dance will be held in City Hall.—The City Council voted to grant the Lawrence post of the American Legion the right to use the old Battery building at the corner of Haverhill and White streets for a headquarters at Monday's City Council meeting, and also passed Mayor White's order for $3,000 for a municipal welcome home celebration to the service men and the official opening of the Riding Park on Columbus Day, October 12th.—After an enforced shutdown of two months, the mills of the American Woolen Company officially resumed operations Monday morning, and the beehives of the textile industry of the city are again in action.—The corner stone of Grace Church Parish house, at Garden and Jackson streets was laid with fitting ceremonies at noon yesterday, following the regular morning services. Rt. Rev. William Lawrence, bishop of Massachusetts blessed the stone. Rev. Malcolm E. Peabody, pastor of the church, was the master of ceremonies.—The success of the class in home gardening which was conducted in the early summer by the Essex County Agricultural school in the local chamber of commerce rooms has led the local organization to plan another course along similar lines for this autumn. It will be a class in poultry raising and will probably be held on evening each week for several weeks commencing in October.

Tuesday, September 14—Naturalization proceedings at the local county court house, which were started Monday, continued Tuesday morning and afternoon, when approximately 200 applicants were admitted to citizenship. Two women were among their number.—A conference was held yesterday afternoon in the Chamber of Commerce rooms on the matter of doing something to decrease the number of fatalities on the highways of Massachusetts. Lewis E. MacBrayne, field secretary of the State Chamber of Commerce, came here for the conference, which was attended by members and directors of the local organization.

Six employees of the local car house and car repair shop of the Eastern Massachusetts street railway were laid off Saturday night in accordance with an order issued by the public trustees who have inaugurated a campaign to reduce the operating expenses throughout the entire system. There will be a further curtailment of help at the power house in the near future when it is planned to drop two and probably three men. Manager John H. Hayes of the local division said Monday that no conductors or motormen have been laid off. Since the one-man cars were put into operation a total of five motormen and conductors have left the employ of the road of their own volition, Manager Hayes said.—The municipal budget is apparently as far from being accepted as previously, although the City Council held a decidedly spicy discussion of the subject at Monday's regular meeting. After Alderman Carr and Alderman Maloney had suggested that their appropriations be increased, the mayor made a motion that the budget be advertised as the charter provides in the original form which he submitted it to the council several weeks ago. Alderman Finnegan seconded the mayor's motion, but it was defeated by a 3 to 2 vote. Aldermen Maloney, Carr and Flanagan voting against. When several motions were made to request the mayor to increase different department appropriations the mayor positively refused to put the motions before the body, and Alderman Maloney presented them as president of the City Council. The council then passed these motions which were put before the government by Alderman Maloney, increasing the appropriations set by the mayor in his budget: Health department, $20,000; fire department, $3,000 for the call fire men's pay for the last quarter; fire alarm department, $15,000; new hose, $9,000; new triple combination motor fire apparatus, $14,000. In each case the motion was passed by a vote of 4 to 1, Mayor White voting "no" except on the hose motion, upon which he did not vote.

METHUEN

Monday, Sept. 13—Whooping cough is quite prevalent in this city and presents a difficult problem for the Board of Health and school officials to handle. Only with the co-operation of the family with the health officials can this menace be checked. If there is a case in the home it should be reported immediately and all children who have not had the disease must be kept at home.—The Methuen Public Health Clinic conducted under the direction of the Board of Health of this city, has begun the fall work, and residents of Methuen are at liberty to present themselves at the Board of Health office every Wednesday afternoon and evening to receive physical examinations and advice.—The tax rate for the present year, as announced by the board of assessors, is $33.00 per $1000. This is the highest rate ever assessed in the history of the community and is an increase of $9.50 over the assessment of last year which was $23.50 per $1000. There are many reasons for this increase, according to the assessors, among them being the increase in the state and county taxes, the acceptance by the voters of the two-platoon system in the fire department, increased wages for the firemen, police and city employees, city improvements, etc.

A meeting was held in the office of the Merrimack Mutual Fire Insurance Company on Tuesday evening by officers of the three local Republican organizations and plans were laid for carrying on the campaign in Andover up to election day. The various duties were divided into separate parts and sub-committees were detailed to perform the work. The campaign will be carried on in a systematic manner, and the officers are looking for great results.

A garden 122 by 43 feet, if given intensive cultivation, will produce more vegetables, excepting potatoes, than a family of five can use, according to the experience of a garden club member in Madison Parish, La. Of some vegetables she had several different varieties to determine which grew best and gave the best satisfaction in that climate and soil. "Gay enough now is the farm, with its automobile, its telephone, and its phonograph. The dull and dreary farm life of the past has disappeared.

"One fine spring morning in the old days a farm boy went eagerly to his father and begged:

A Nuisance to be Abated

Robert Washburn is one of the brightest men in Massachusetts. As long as his brightness contributes to the gaiety of the State as it lends itself to the discussion of all sorts of questions, but more naturally those of a political color, most of us welcome his propensity to take part in all sorts of public matters. As a Republican he has been just as unstable as the most men of his cut, and as a Republican with rare capacity in mental equipment, and rare opportunity afforded by birth, education and loyal constituency, he succeeded after a long service on Beacon Hill in leaving no impression upon legislation, and little impression upon his associates other than that of a satirist and a wonderful manipulator of words of sarcasm.

Since he retired from Beacon Hill and assumed the responsible position of Massachusetts keeper of all the virtues possessed by the late Theodore Roosevelt, by having a club named for that gentleman, by having a trust company incorporated under the ex-President's influence, and by various other uses of the Roosevelt label, he has felt the weight of this enormous burden to such an extent that now he feels that he must be the mentor in all matters of political ethics. It is not necessary to review all of the "ethical" things that Mr. Washburn has done in his erratic career, to justify the assertion that many people have considerable doubt about Mr. Washburn's equipment for such an exacting task as he has undertaken.

It is only necessary to refer to his recent attempt to adjust the differences between two candidates who attempted to be nominated for Lieutenant-Governor on the Republican ticket, for the public to understand how Mr. Washburn attained his position as an erratic legislator, plus his position as the Massachusetts founder of everything Roosevelt, plus his position as author and writer in connection with any subject offering an opportunity for criticism, all leading up to his present high place as chief nuisance in Republican councils. When the press of Boston comes to the position where it takes Mr. Washburn no more seriously than do most people in the Commonwealth who know him well, he will pass on to another stage where his name may be a memory. His bright quips may be recalled with an occasional smile, but his influence will be entirely forgotten.

It is time the Republican party ignored such issues as former Speaker Warner has raised in connection with the success of Mr. Fuller in the primaries. It is just as timely for the press of the State to ignore the chief mischief-maker in connection with this and many other State issues.

The Power of the Press

Great newspapers have great power, sometimes because they don't do things, and sometimes because they do actually get into a situation, and bring about solution of the problems involved. Under the leadership of Robert Lincoln O'Brien the Boston Herald is expected to hold a commanding position in the discussion of the public affairs of Massachusetts, and it seldom fails to come up to such expectations. It is, however, pretty easy for the general public to fail to appreciate the qualities that are needed to go through with the kind of fighting that the Herald did in its work to defeat the re-election of Mr. Burrell to the position of State Treasurer. They were up against the fact that Mr. Burrell did nothing actually dishonest. They were obliged to discuss the question of his fitness entirely from the standpoint of the ethics of business and the ethics of public service. The average man said "Was he wrong?" and with the answer in the negative was disposed to give no consideration further to the charges; but the Herald pounded into its readers, from its first utterance until the close of the incident, the seriousness of the situation if high officials carried such practices to the full possibilities, and little by little the public understood and appreciated.

No one force in the entire State, and we are almost inclined to believe, not all the forces put together, had the influence in deposing Mr. Burrell from his position that the Herald did; and the thanks of the State at large, and the people all over the United States, are due to that paper and its editor; especially in these days when it is easy to follow the striking examples at Washington in office-holding profiteering. Here in Massachusetts has been set up again a high standard that the world at large may look upon and profit by.

A Bad System of Nominating

Women voters showed up mighty well in the recent primary. They not only did the regular voting intelligently, but they did the special job of handing stickers in a way to justify giving them credit for a big share in the victory secured by Mr. Jackson.

Somebody has queried why it is that voters in cities, and voters of the Democratic party show more intelligence at primaries than Republicans do at primaries in the country towns. We don't think there is very much difficulty in answering this inquiry. City voters are well trained. They are almost invariably under big or little bosses who take pains to intelligently instruct where sharp issues are to be drawn, so that when the average follower of the average boss gets into the city polling booths he knows about what he is going to do, and does it.

This used to be the case in the olden days of the caucus, where the bosses were scattered all over the Commonwealth, and most people are ready to agree that the system brought about better results than today, because the boss had to go straight or he did not keep boss very long.

Opportunities to Register as a Voter

In answer to the repeated inquiries concerning dates and hours for registration before the Presidential election the Town Clerk announces that the Board of Registrars will be in session at the Town Hall as follows: Saturday, September 25th from 2:00 to 5:00 p.m.; Tuesday, September 28th from 7:00 to 10:00 p.m.; Wednesday, October 6th from 7:00 to 10:00 p.m.; Saturday, October 9th from 2:00 to 5:00 p.m.; Friday, October 15th from 7:00 to 10:00 p.m.; Saturday, October 23rd from 12 m. to 4 p.m.

Saturday, September 25th and Saturday, October 9th are dates added for the special convenience of women, though men may also register on the dates.

The board will also be in session at Ballardvale on Monday, October 11th from 7:00 to 10:00 p.m., and on Monday, October 18th from 7:00 to 10:00 p.m.

Ex-Servicemen Take Notice

To the Editor of the Townsman,

Sir:

May I make a request, through the medium of your columns, that the War Record blanks, recently sent out by the American Legion to all service men in Andover, be returned, properly filled out, to me at once? While the response to this request for information has been personally satisfactory, there are still many ex-servicemen in Andover who have not yet replied. If the story of Andover's part in the war with Germany is to be told properly, the facts must first be secured, and there is no way of getting at the facts except through veterans themselves. The filling out of the blank in question will take only a few minutes. If there is any ex-serviceman in Andover who did not receive such a War Record blank, I should be very glad to hear from him at once so that the mistake in our records can be rectified.

Very truly yours,
CLAUDE M. FUESS

Andover Natural History Society to Entertain N. E. Federation

The fall meeting of the New England Federation of Natural History Societies will be held at Lawrence and Andover, Friday and Saturday, September 21 and 22.

At Lawrence the room of the Natural History Society in the Central Building, 316 Essex street, will be open to visitors on both days. The Society's collections will be shown and there will be special exhibits of mushrooms and flowers of the season. Friday evening there will be a public meeting at this room with addresses by several local and visiting members.

At Andover there will be an exhibition at the High School including a large exhibit of local plants from the herbarium of M. E. Guttererson and Rocky Mountain plants collected by the late Wm. G. Goldsmith. This exhibition will be open to the public both Friday and Saturday. The Archaeological museum of Phillips Academy and other local collections will also be open to visitors.

Saturday morning there will be an excursion for mushrooms and later an exhibition of them in which several members of the Boston Mycological Club expect to join, leaving Boston at 8:10 A.M. due in Andover at 9:06 Massachusetts time. There will be lunch for visiting members at the High School from 12 to 1. At 2 P.M. there will be a meeting of the Federation for reports and addresses. The use of several automobiles has been offered to help members in their movements about Andover.

Prep Rules

Students in the freshman class at Phillips may be recognized during the coming weeks by the fact that they will all wear hats or caps. They will not be met on Main street between Gray's Store and the Bookstore, nor on School street below the Wainwright house, nor at the Colonial Theatre.

The Student Council has adopted the following interesting "Prep rules" which are to be enforced during the fall term.

Resolved:

1. All preps must wear hats or caps at all times.
2. Preps must not go on Main street between Gray's Store and the Bookstore, nor on School Street from Wainwright House down.
3. Exceptions: (a) Preps may go down these streets to church.
4. Preps may go on these streets to see a doctor.
5. Preps must sit on the South side of the grill.
6. Preps must not go to the town movies at any time.
7. These rules apply to the Fall Term only.

Woman's Relief Corps Notes

General William F. Bartlett Post No. 127, W. R. C., opened its winter season at a regular meeting held Tuesday evening in G. A. R. hall. Mrs. Frank Smith gave a very interesting account of a visit to the National Soldiers Home at Togus, Maine, where about seven hundred veterans are accommodated.

It was announced that Mrs. Lily Tibbitts of Peabody will inspect the work of the local corps at the first meeting held in November.

The first sewing meeting will be held with Mrs. Carl Elander on next Wednesday, September 22nd. Members are requested to attend and finish the work left over from last year.

Four members of the local Corps, Mrs. Mary Valentine, Mrs. Annie Davis, Mrs. Susan Wood and Miss Sadie Hobbs attended the meeting of the Essex County Association of the W. R. C., held in Groveland last Wednesday. At this meeting, Mrs. Mary Valentine, president of the local corps, was elected chaplain of the Essex County Association.

Many Persons Purchase Homes

Peter Saunders to Mrs. Margaret T. Dale, house and land at 21 Washington Ave.

George Stiles to Joseph Bouleau, house and land at 36 Wash. ton Ave.

James Green to Joseph Duff of Somerville, house and land on Pine street.

Mrs. Bethia Toole to Kolor Loosigan, house and land on Ballardvale Plains.

Rev. Frank R. Shipman to Granville K. Foss, Jr., of North Andover, house and land at 61 Central street.

Mary T. Donovan, Est. to Michael Dowd, house and land at 10 Chestnut street.

William Nicholl to Ralph Manning, house and land on Wilbur Court.

Beals of Longwood Wins Tennis Title

On the courts of the North Andover country club the finals in the singles tennis championship of Essex county were played Sunday afternoon before a large gallery and resulted in a victory for Sidney L. Beals of Longwood over Horace Taylor, also of Longwood and winner of the event last year. Beals earns a leg on the Bailey cup. The players met Labor day, but after each had won two sets the play was called on account of darkness and was postponed until Saturday. The scores were: 6-8, 6-1, 6-3, 6-4.

One Pipe—The Modern way to Heat

THE MAGEE ONE-PIPE FURNACE is the new principle in heating to which the householder may confidently look for the realization of what he has always hoped for in his heater—"hoped for" but never "realized."

To-day this realization is made possible by the unique features presented in the Magee system. Through its single warm-air pipe, the Magee sends all of the warm air which is generated, upstairs into the house where it is needed. Coal fills do not look so large when you realize that all of the coal heat which you pay for is utilized; no part of it is wasted. Think it over and

Notice to Republican Women Voters of Andover

The Woman's Division of the Republican Party will hold a Regional Conference in Mayflower Hall, Essex Bank Building, (corner of Lawrence and Essex streets) Lawrence, Mass., next week Thursday, September 23rd, at 10:30 a.m. The morning session will be given over to a working conference with reports from the three State Committee women and from the city and town chairmen. The afternoon session will consist of inspirational addresses by prominent men and women speakers. The conference is being arranged for the purpose of arousing the interest of women throughout the State to a realization of the duty and opportunity that comes with the ballot. Republican women of Andover are urged to be present.

Chairman Woman's Division,
Republican Town Committee

Among the persons prominent in the work of the Republican party who will be the speakers at the Regional Conference of the Woman's Division of the Republican Party of Massachusetts to be held in Lawrence, next Thursday, are Mrs. Charles Sumner Bird, chairman of woman's division; Mrs. Frederick P. Bagley, chairman of American citizenship; Mrs. James D. Tillinghast and Hon. John Jacob Rogers, Congressman from the Fifth Congressional district. The complete program follows:—

MORNING SESSION
10:30 a.m. Call to order. Mrs. Chas. S. Bird, Chairman Woman's Division. Reports of State Committee Women. Fourth and Fifth Essex, and Eighth Middlesex Senatorial Districts.
10:45 a.m. Reports of City and Town Chairmen. All reports limited to three minutes.
11:30 a.m. Political Quiz. Leader to be announced.
12:00 m. Demonstration of Voting. Mrs. Frederick P. Bagley, Chairman of American Citizenship.
12:30 p.m. Adjournment.
AFTERNOON SESSION
2:00 p.m. Call to order. Address. Mrs. Chas. S. Bird.
2:20 p.m. Address. Hon. John J. Rogers, Congressman from the Fifth Congressional District.
3:00 p.m. Address, speaker to be announced.
3:30 p.m. Address. Mrs. James D. Tillinghast.

Tendered Shower

The friends of Miss Anna Holt tendered her a miscellaneous shower at her home on Chestnut street Wednesday evening. Miss Holt was the recipient of many beautiful and useful gifts.

A mock marriage afforded a great deal of amusement. Games and music were enjoyed and refreshments served. Those who were present were Mrs. Rhodes, Mrs. M. F. Dalton, Mrs. John Ralph, Mrs. William Orr, Mrs. C. H. Weeks, Mrs. Josephine Early, Misses Emma Holt, Gwen Cooke, Maude Millett, Alice Higgins, Nan Sellers, May McCoubrey, Elsie Holt, Dora Ward, Lena Lundgren, Katherine Walsh and Charlotte Holt.

Abbot Academy Notes

Abbot Academy opened with Chapel exercises on Wednesday morning. In speaking of the changes that had taken place at the school during the summer, Miss Bailey spoke of the great loss which the school had sustained in the death of Mr. Dearborn, superintendent of grounds. "We miss him greatly," she said, "for his school opens. Such was the firmness of his character, based on the integrity of his character, that he could not do a poor job. It was an impossibility. The work he did he would endure because it was that kind of work. His life has thus been built into the life of the school. Well may it be for us if we can set the same high standard for our work." One hundred and thirty-nine boys, students and twenty-six day students are enrolled. On next Tuesday evening a dance will be given by the pupils to welcome the new girls.

Hold Picnic Indoors

Despite the deluge Monday evening there was a large attendance at the first fall meeting of the Courtous Circle of King's Daughters at the South church. It was planned to hold an outdoor picnic on the lawn but the weather prevented this and the picnic was held indoors. A basket lunch was enjoyed at 6:30, the entertainment committee of the Circle providing coffee.

Miss C. Madeleine Hewes, leader, presided at the business session and those present were well repaid for coming out in the storm as two splendid talks were given on King's Daughters' work.

Mrs. Farley of Waltham, state president, told of the work of the State branch at their summer camp, "Gordon Rest" at South Hanson, where working women, unable to take a vacation themselves, are given a much needed outing at the rest camp. This is conducted by the State branch of King's Daughters.

Mrs. Brokenshire of East Milton, treasurer of the State branch, was also a very interesting speaker and gave her impressions of the Biennial convention of International Order of King's Daughters held at St. Louis last May.

Want Women as Election Officers

The board of selectmen have received the following letter from the Massachusetts League of Women Voters in regard to the appointment of women assistants in the polling booths on election day:

"In view of the fact that there will be thousands of women voting this year for the first time, many of whom will need help in using their ballots, we ask you to appoint at least one woman from each political party as a regular election officer at the polls and will more readily ask legitimate help and will facilitate the running of the election this year.

This request is sent in the name of the Massachusetts League of Women Voters, a state branch of the National League and in the name of the Republican women's committee and the Democratic women's committee.

Sincerely yours,
HESTER S. FEARING, Chairman, Mass., League of Women Voters.
ANNIE C. BIRD, Chairman, Women's Division Republican State Committee.

SUSAN C. FITZGERALD, Chairman Women's Division Democratic State Committee.

The selectmen will be unable to comply with this request as the election officers have already been appointed for the year.

Christ Church Notes

The Church School will reopen on Sunday at 12:00 o'clock. It is hoped that everyone will help to make it an efficient beginning. W. D. Yates, superintendent, will be in charge.

In the choir camp there was a splendid spirit; but in the judgment of the choirmaster, the prize for excellence went to Reginald Whitcomb. This prize will be awarded tonight at the rehearsal.

The shingles for the Parish House roof are on the way. As soon as they are in place the plans for the improvements will be put in motion. The various Guilds will begin their work at their usual times, which will be announced.

"It Happened at Andover"

Professor Stephen Leacock, ordinarily a teacher in the unromantic field of Political Economy, spends his leisure hours in writing humorous masterpieces for a delighted public. So James C. Graham, instructor in Chemistry at Phillips Academy, has occupied himself outside the laboratory in putting into short stories some of the nebulous traditions which for years have been fire-side talk on Andover Hill. The result has just appeared in a volume entitled, "It Happened at Andover", recently published by the Houghton Mifflin Company and now on sale at the Andover Bookstore. In make-up the book contains nineteen sketches, all related from the standpoint of the teacher and in the first person, and touching upon various phases of academic life. Some, like "The Foreign-born", are based upon actual incidents; others, like "The Spy", are largely fiction. As was to be expected, readers will differ, — indeed, have differed, — widely in their preferences among them; certainly the two called "Parents" and "The Transformation" rank with the very best.

Mr. Graham's book, although its humor will be immediately appealing to boys, is not intended for them alone. Indeed its tone of philosophic reminiscence and its all-pervading spirit of irony will be appreciated best by more sophisticated readers. In style it is undeniably brilliant, — more brilliant, probably, than any collection of school stories of a similar type, not excepting "Stalky and Co." It is evident that the book will have a wide sale, especially among those who are familiar with the school and its customs.

To Work Only Five Days a Week

Beginning Monday morning, the plants of the Tyer Rubber company went on a 45-hour per week schedule, which is so arranged that the factories will not operate on Saturdays.

The hours have been 6:57 a.m. to noon, and from 12:55 to 4:23 p.m., five days of the week and from 7 till noon Saturdays, a total of 18 hours per week. Under the new arrangements the hours will be from 7 a.m. to 12 and from 1 p.m. to 5 daily, the plants closing Friday night for the week. This arrangement will be until further notice.

Andover Takes Prizes at Lawrence Flower Show

At the annual exhibition of flowers, fruit and vegetables held under the auspices of the Lawrence Horticultural Society in the Lawrence City hall last week the following persons from Andover took prizes: James Boardman, best display from Andover; Mrs. Mary E. Ward, special prize for best display of gladioli; William Chadwick, best six pom-pom dahlias; Thomas Low, best six carrots; Thomas Low, second best six beets.

John MacDonald, J. H. Phylson of Andover and Frank McLeod of Lawrence were the judges.

Weddings

LARKIN—SAVAGE

Saturday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis B. Savage of 61 Brown street, Haverhill, Miss Helen B. Savage was married to Harold E. Larkin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Larkin of Chestnut street.

The ceremony was performed outdoors on the spacious lawn in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends and the double ring service was used. Eldred Larkin, brother of the groom was best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Larkin held a reception following the ceremony and a wedding lunch was served. They were the recipients of many beautiful and useful wedding gifts. They left later in the evening on a wedding trip and on their return will live in Haverhill.

The groom is a graduate of Pynchard High School and served in the World War with Battery F, 102 F. A., Yankee Division.

MANIER—DUNTON

A pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Dunton of Bath, Maine, on last Saturday, when their daughter Florence Lilly was united in marriage to James Wyche Manier, 3rd, of Nashville, Tennessee.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Wilson of the Bath Congregational church, the bridal party standing beneath an arch of green and white.

The bride was becomingly gowned in white beaded georgette and wore a veil caught with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses.

She was attended by Miss Nancy Manier, a sister of the groom, as maid of honor, and by little Anne McCarthy of Bath as flower girl. Miss Manier wore pink and blue organdie and carried pink roses and the flower girl wore white organdie and carried a basket of roses.

The best man was Robert Dunton, a brother of the bride.

A reception followed the wedding ceremony after which Mr. and Mrs. Manier left for Lake Winnepesaukee where they will spend several weeks.

They will make their home in Hudson where Mr. Manier is employed by the Fuller, Chandler and Patten Company.

Mrs. Manier has many friends in Andover where for the last four years she has been a teacher at the Indian Ridge School.

SMITH—BRIGHTMAN

A pretty wedding was celebrated at the First M. E. church, North Andover, Wednesday evening, when Miss Mabel E. Brightman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Brightman, was united in marriage to Harold E. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Smith of Dorchester.

Rev. L. William Adams, pastor, officiated at 6:15 o'clock, the double ring service being used.

The bridal party entered the church to the strains of the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin, and Mendelssohn's Wedding March was played for a recessional. The selections were admirably rendered by Miss Elizabeth M. Saunders.

The bride wore a gown of white silk, and a tulle veil, fastened with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

The bridesmaid, Miss Harriett G. Brightman, a sister of the bride, wore an attractive pink silk gown and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

The flower girl was Ruth Brightman of Springfield, the bride's cousin.

Franklin Smith of Dorchester, brother of the groom, was best man.

Norman Brightman, Donald Smith of Dorchester, another brother of the groom, Ralph Bodwell of Methuen and Stanley W. DeQuoy of Danvers were ushers. The church was decorated with gladioli, palms, hydrangea and other flowers by the Philathea class, of which the bride was secretary.

Following the ceremony a delightful reception was held at the bride's home, 11 Troy road, about one hundred and twenty-five guests being in attendance.

The bride was private secretary to Prof. W. K. Moorehead of Phillips Academy, for four years. She attended the Johnson High school and was graduated from the Lawrence Commercial School.

The groom, who is a locomotive engineer, served two years with the 11th Engineers of the U. S. Army in France, during the World War.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith left amid a shower of confetti for a wedding trip through New Hampshire and Maine. Returning they are to reside at their new home, 28 Emerald street, Medford, where they will be at home after October 1st.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS OPEN

principal of their desire that the highest standards of scholarship and discipline be maintained and that they promise him their unqualified support in the adoption of such methods as he may deem wise and necessary for the attainment of this end.

The high school lunch room was opened on Monday with Mrs. M. E. Dalton in charge. Owing to the difficulty which many of the teachers have experienced in finding boarding places, beginning next Monday, meals will be served in the high school lunch room until such time as other arrangements can be made. This will accommodate about a dozen teachers who up to this time have been unable to secure places to board.

The grades are well filled although some of the children have not yet returned from vacation and it will probably be the end of the month before the enrollment is completed.

All of the new teachers reported on Monday. At the John Dove school Mrs. Margaret Kimball, teacher of Grade V, was unable to begin work on account of illness and her place is being taken temporarily by a substitute from Lawrence.

Laces Much Used

The prevalence of laces on the models that are being shown at the fall openings and fashion shows is causing considerable comment. It has been so many years since laces have been a true fashion feature that they appear almost as a novelty, and many buyers who have forgotten the softening and beautifying effect of laces are exclaiming with pleasure at the new creations.

Especially are the evening models replete with laces, and almost invariably these laces are of the finer and better grades. Chantillys are leaders for evening wear at the present time, although metal laces and embroidered nets are not far behind.

Some of the Chantillys are being shown in very large and bold designs while heretofore these laces, as a rule, have been made only in fine and delicate patterns.

In the metal laces, silver is predominant, although gold, copper, steel and the colored metals are being extensively featured. Embroidered nets are very often beaded also, and in this way become more brilliant and gorgeous in appearance. In fact, a delicate beading of design is being seen in a great many of the laces used for formal wear.

Foundations of white or light colors, or gold and silver tissue, are being used in many of the gowns to effectively display the designs of the laces and with excellent results.—Dry Foods Economics

WEST PARISH

Harold Abbott continues to improve as his many friends are glad to know.

Mrs. Abalino Cutler is visiting her son Granville K. Cutler of Lowell street.

Fannie S. Lewis has returned to the Nurses' Training School after a three-weeks' vacation.

Dr. and Mrs. A. P. Crockett of St. John, New Brunswick are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Hardy this week.

Fred Snow, wife, children and Mrs. Ida F. Shaw spent Sunday with Walter B. Shaw in Hancock, New Hampshire.

The Ladies' Aid Society will meet with Mrs. Granville K. Cutler on Wednesday at 2:30 o'clock. A large attendance is desired as plans are to be made for the supper and sale to be held early in October.

The Women's Club of Andover Grange will hold a meeting Thursday, September 23rd, afternoon and evening. Supper will be served at the usual hour. Mr. and Mrs. Ira B. Hill are chairmen of the supper committee.

The meeting of Andover Grange was a lively one and well attended. Mr. Richardson, the speaker expected, was unable to be present and Rev. A. H. Wheelock of Needham, State Chaplain, took his place. Mr. Wheelock needed no introduction to Andover Grange and his spicy, helpful talk was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Sunday School Class Entertainment

Miss Gertrude Stark entertained her Sunday School class at her home on Thursday afternoon. Games were played and dainty refreshments were served. Those present were Elwyn Russell, Charles Mason, Thomas Clement, Chester Robinson, Bernard Kibbee, Norman Kibbee and Allan Edmunds.

Thiras' Store Closed

Peter Thiras who closed his store last week, has made an assignment of his goods and Jacob M. Reed, attorney in the Bay State building, Lawrence, has sent out notices to those who ran accounts at the store to pay their bills to him.

Mr. Thiras opened his store several months ago with a fine line of fruit and vegetables, canned goods, staple groceries, tonics and candy, which could not be obtained before in the village. The closing of the store is much regretted by his Ballardvale patrons.

Seventy-Five Years Ago

This week was picked up a copy of the Morning Telegraph, a newspaper published in Nantucket for a short period in the "forties". It was dated 1841—seventy-five years ago. We found the advertisements of particular interest at this time, especially the prices charged for the various household necessities. That comparison may be made with present-day prices, and the "high cost of living" in 1919, we have copied a few of the prices listed at Nantucket in 1841:

Coffee, 15 cents a pound.
Rice, 25 pounds for $1.00.
Tea, 10 cents a pound.
Beaver hats, $1.00 each.
Shoe blacking, 5 cents a box.
Ladies' kid slips, 50 cents.
Table cloth, 2 yards wide, 20 cents a running yard.
Hooks and eyes, 2 cents a box.

Stair carpeting, 17 cents a yard.
Russian "duck", 20 cents a yard.
Linen table cloths, full size, $1.00 each.
Lard, 12 1/2 pounds for $1.00.
Sheeting, 8 cents a yard.
Molasses, 30 cents a gallon.
Brown sugar, 14 pounds for $1.00.
White sugar, 13 pounds for $1.00.
Straw hats, from 17 to 50 cents each.
Potatoes, 2 cents a pound.
Onions, 3 cents a pound.
Apples, $2.00 to $3.00 a barrel.

Silk gloves, 25 cents a pair.
White and drab shawls, 75 cents each.
Night caps, 5 cents each.
Combs, 10 cents each.
Tea sets from $1.75 to $2.50.
Cotton cloth, 6 cents a yard.
Black lace for veils, 20 cents a yard.
Lace edgings, 1 cent a yard.

A Triumph of Art

A young artist, out on a sketching trip, came across a living specimen of the "barefoot boy with chee s of tan," properly equipped with rod and string of fish, and in a considerable time induced him to pose for a sketch. In a few minutes there came along a man who would have been a spoils, instantly by a reasonably sophisticated observer as the head, then ethically at least, of a family. For half an hour he stood watching the artist work then burst out in admiring enthusiasm: "Well, sir, if that isn't won'erful! Beats all I ever saw!"

"Like the sketch, do you?" the flattered artist responded with a pleasurable blush.

"Sketch? Oh, that! Yes, it's all right, I guess. What I meant was the way you have managed to keep that boy quiet for so long."

Very Practical Politics

The New York politician who gave to each voter, regardless of political faith, a three-pound package of sardines has hit upon a device which is likely to prove more popular in small politics than honeyed words.

HARDING—THE EDITOR

Senator Warren G. Harding, Republican nominee for President, is thoroughly familiar with the imposing stone and can "make up" rapidly and skillfully. Here he is shown "making-up" forms in the composing room of his newspaper, the Marion (O.) Star.

A DAY WITH SENATOR HARDING

Calm, Steady, Determined, the American Who Is Leading the Republican Party to Victory Goes About the Business of the Campaign in His Modest Office in Marion.

By WILLIAM HOSTER.

The American people will decide, of course. If they can visualize the vital principle which is at stake—the spirit which is at once the keynote and the mainspring of the campaign upon which the nation has entered, there can be no doubt of the result.

It isn't a thing that can be carried about the country, and exhibited from the rear end of a Pullman car. It is wholly apart from the red fire, blaring bands and stomp oratory of old-fashioned campaigns. The issue, in short, goes deep down to that principle which has been the mainspring of the national life since the days of Lexington and Concord; and the patriotic citizen, Republican and Democrat alike, by taking counsel with himself, will find it imbedded in his own heart.

Here in Marion, O., you get a concrete exposition of that vital principle. It is good to come to Marion and get the true perspective. You are brought anew, here, to the realization that the country is in process of electing a chief executive to guide the destinies of 120,000,000 people for the next four years ensuing from March 4 next; that the very serious business of bringing about what a European observer described as "a revolution by due process of law," is going forward with a proper regard for the dignity and importance of the task.

Scene Entirely Appropriate.

Your first impression is of the fitness of Marion as the scene for the enactment of such a chapter in American history. It is a quiet little country town, for all its boasted industrial activity; and when you approach the Harding residence, one among many in its simplicity and attractiveness, you feel it is quite in keeping with events that from this typical American home there should come a modest, dignified and capable, up-standing American upon whom the choice of his fellow citizens should fall to uphold the honor and traditions of the nation. This conviction grows when you meet the man. He is typical of the successful business man—of the hundreds of thousands of successful Americans who have accumulated a competence through the ordinary channels which are open to all hard working, straightforward American boys.

Meet him, now. He has established an office in the home of George Chittenden, Jr., his secretary, which adjoins the Harding house—and this is typical; chief and secretary live side by side, each owing his own modest home. And by the way, these executive officers are illuminating as to the kind of a man it is whom the Republican party has made its standard bearer in this epoch-making campaign. Every room in the house is given over to the business in hand—the senator's conference room is the Christian dining room, his private office, where the important conferences are held, is the kitchen. In the living room sits Christian. Elsewhere, from cellar to garret, the staff are at work. No confusion, no disorder, no hectic shouting at the top of one's voice, no running around in circles, pounding of the table, no Harrying, Jimmying or Billying, with strident denunciations of the other side, and loud boasts of the way the opposition candidate is to be beaten into a pulp. Just a thorough, careful, business-like transaction of the business in hand—precisely the way in which we like to think the work of 120,000,000 people will be conducted at the White House after March 4.

Step into the dining room and meet the senator. Just at the minute he is reading proof on editorials which are to be printed in his newspaper, the Marion "Star," in the afternoon. The senator stands for everything that is printed in the "Star" and is careful to read what goes into its columns before the paper goes to press. Disposing of the proof sheet, he shakes hands cordially with you and you are at liberty to size him up.

Mark Him Dependable.

He is somewhat above the average, of course, because he has already been singled out by the people of Ohio to represent them in the senate. But aside from this: You are at once struck by his balance and his poise. You mark him as a dependable safe bet. There is that in his face, on his brow, which gives assurance that he is not the sort of a man who will speak without thinking, or act without deliberating. There is reserve force in his bearing, determination in his looks, character in his mouth, kindly sympathy in his eyes.

As you listen to him talk here in the Christian dining room, or later, in a speech to a visiting delegation from the front porch of his home, this conviction is strengthened. He doesn't say anything in his office that he wouldn't say out on the porch, nor anything on the porch that he wouldn't adhere to in all sincerity in his office.

The thing that strikes you at all times—it is the very atmosphere of Marion—is his moderation, his restraint—the absence of all bombast and exaggeration in his statements—the careful presentation of the issues—the avoidance of all attempt to arouse one class against the other, the conveyance of the desire, if called to the presidency, to be president of all the people and, without making any high sounding promises, to give all of the people the best that is in him.

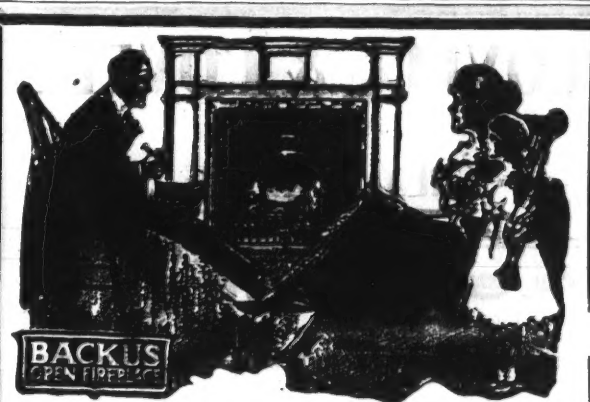

Avoids Personal Controversy.

Particularly noticeable is his avoidance of personal controversy. No one since his nomination has heard him referred to in a public speech to his opponent. He adheres to the issues. Not once has he permitted himself to indulge in personal denunciation of his rival.

He is sure. He has fixed convictions as to the moderation and balance which should characterize candidates for the high office of the presidency, departure from which he believes, without doing any good to the candidate who offends, does serve to bring American institutions into contempt.

During the war there was a Harding kind of man in service as bosun on an American merchantman. The time came when the ship was torpedoed; and the bosun was put in charge of the tiller on the whaleboat in which a goodly portion of the crew took refuge. A storm arose, and there was imminent danger that the boat would be swamped. In the stern sheets sat the bosun, rigid and erect, his hand locked to the tiller. He said little—"Steady!" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat hard and fast on a friendly beach.

Then he got up and stretched and asked for a pipe of tobacco. Calm, steady, determined and knowing his business, one conceives of the other Harding thus guiding the ship through any storm that may arise, to a safe harbor.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of John Burke, late of Andover in said County, deceased.

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court for probate, by John J. Burke who prays that letters of administration with the will annexed may be issued to him, without giving a surety on his official bond, the executor named in said will having declined to serve.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Salem in said County of Essex, on the fourth day of October A.D. 1920, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Andover Townsman, a newspaper published in Andover, the last publication to be one day, at least, before said Court, and by mailing, post-paid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

WITNESS, HARRY R. DOW, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this tenth day of September in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty.

What do You Need to Know About Tubes

TO THE experienced motorist, there is more in knowing who makes his automobile tubes than how many layers they are made of, or how the valve patch is applied.

U. S. Red Tubes are made by the United States Rubber Company—the oldest and largest rubber organization in the world.

And for that reason the most experienced—and with the greatest stake in quality.

BALLARDVALE

Ernest Chiras of Lowell Junction has re-enlisted in the navy with the rank of a petty officer.

Mr. and Mrs. George Clemons entertained Mr. and Mrs. Harry Foss of Haverhill last Sunday.

Mrs. Oliver Matthews of Oxford and Mrs. Arthur Matthews of Lowell spent Thursday with relatives in the village.

Warren Trafton of the New England Plywood Company of Lowell Junction has been enjoying a two-weeks' vacation in Maine.

The Bradlee Mothers' Club plan to hold their first meeting of the season on Thursday, October 7th. It is hoped that a number of new names will be added to the roll call.

Joseph Russell who has been employed as a painter at Abbot Academy, has been appointed head of the work around the grounds of the school, succeeding Lauren Dearborn who recently passed away.

Dinner Party

Miss Marion White of Reservation road gave a dinner party last Tuesday evening to her associates of the Tye Rubber Company office.

During the evening games were played and an excellent program of amusements was given as follows:

Vocal solos, Miss Jessie Coutts and Miss Mabel Marshall; piano solos, Miss Anna Kyle and Miss Elizabeth Henderson; fancy folk dances, Miss Louise Greenwood; life solo, Miss Eva Zechin; Highland Fling, Miss Annie Ness; impersonations, Misses Alta and Marion White.

Those present were Misses Alta White, Fannie Kilburn, Louise Greenwood, Elizabeth Henderson, Annie Ness, Anna Kyle, Jessie Coutts, Mabel Marshall and Eva Zechin.

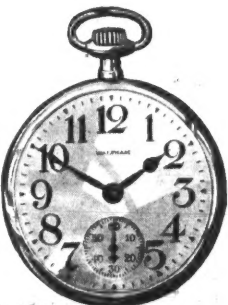

Phillips Andover Begins Football Practice

The first football practice of the season was held on Wednesday afternoon when twenty-three players reported to head coach Fred J. Daly.

Six veterans are back, and the prospects are as bright as a year ago. Capt. Wingate will probably remain at quarterback; Daley and La Tulippe, tackles; Evans, guard and Koehler, halfback, are the veterans.

Of the new men out, Cox, who played halfback for the Radio School two years ago; Westor of Sturtevant High of New York, halfback; Vite, who was captain elect at Worcester Academy, center; Johnson, halfback from California; Dogree of East Orange, N. J., are available. Kern, Tison, quarterback; Allen, halfback and Walworth, guard, substitutes a year ago, are out for regular positions.

Ray Shepard, formerly of University of Maine, the track coach, is assisting Coach Fred Daly. Alex Sutherland is trainer again.

WATCH REPAIRING

The prime importance of a watch is its ability to keep time, a watch that has not been properly cleaned and repaired cannot keep accurate time.

And to clean a watch properly it must be taken completely apart, thoroughly washed in Benzine, cyanide of potassium, hot soap and water, and dried with alcohol and sawdust. All cop jewels must be inspected and cleaned. The balance wheel pivots must be examined for imperfections and perfectly polished on the adjusted grades the hair springs must be removed, the balances trued and poised. The manipulation of these delicate operations characterizes the watchmaker, the expert is considered a craftsman, an adjuster and a repairer.

Watch repairing of this quality done in a conscientious and efficient manner is sure to be satisfactory and is worthy of any person's consideration who is willing to pay more to get the best.

were towed to Buchan's garage. There were no lights on the truck and the driver, Frank Espinola of Lawrence, told Officer Saunders who went to the scene of the accident, that he had left his truck on the road and gone to Boston for parts expecting to return before dark. He was unable to accomplish his errand in time and when the accident happened at eight o'clock it was almost pitch dark.

Officer Saunders stated that once before he found Espinola's truck in Andover without lights. He will be brought into the Andover police court where he will answer to a violation of the automobile laws and also to a charge of blocking the highway.

Communication

September 11, 1920.

The Andover Townsman, Andover, Massachusetts.

The Editor of the Townsman: In the last issue of the Townsman, through some misunderstanding, the statement was made that I supported the decoration of the South Church with expert advice from McKim, Mead & White of New York. I trust you will permit me to correct this error; I alone am responsible for the color scheme, the design, and subject of the decoration, with the approval of the Assessors. When an architect is responsible for a successful piece of work, he likes to be given the credit for the time and study given to it; and on the other hand, if his work is criticized, he feels it to be rather cowardly to permit the criticism to fall upon a fellow architect who had no connection with the work.

As the treatment of the decoration is somewhat unusual for this type of church, it may be of interest to some of your readers to learn the reason which led to the adoption of this particular form of decoration.

The building is not Colonial in style, so that the type of decoration employed in the early New England Meeting Houses would be out of place here; and it was decided that the main part of the auditorium should be left without ornament and that the ornamental decoration be confined to a panel at the focal point back of the reading desk. Naturally, as this is a Christian Church, the Cross, the only universally recognized emblem of Christianity, should form the centre of the decorative treatment. As the authority on which the Christian Church rests is found in the four Gospels, the symbols of the four Evangelists, St. Matthew, St. Mark, St. Luke, and St. John, were appropriately placed in the four arms of the Cross, with the monogram I. H. S. signifying Jesus the Saviour of Men placed in the centre.

The symbols representing winged figures, the man for St. Matthew, the lion for St. Mark, the bull for St. Luke, and the eagle for St. John were used by the early Christians and are found in the early Roman Catacombs.

The Cross has always been the emblem of Christianity, and in the Great War was used to mark the graves of all soldiers from Christian countries, while those from Mohammedan countries have over them a slab marked with a crescent.

There is no question of the appropriateness of the symbols used in the decoration of the South Church, and that they should and are being more generally used than has been the custom in years past.

Very truly yours,

ADDISON B. LEBOUTILLIER

To Study Eskers and Indian Fortifications

The Teachers' School of Science with George H. Barton, S.B., as instructor, will visit Andover on Saturday, September 18th, for a field lesson in geology. The party will arrive in town at 11:10 a.m., and proceed to Indian Ridge where they will make a study of eskers and old Indian fortifications.

In conjunction with the School of Science, the Andover Natural History Society will hold a field meeting and all persons interested in geology are invited to attend.

A basket lunch will be enjoyed at Indian Ridge at 12:30, hot coffee being provided by the local society.

Siftings

The New York Herald recently printed this timely bit of optimism entitled "Gardening in Retrospect".

"The amateur gardener, reminded through the purchase of a new commutation ticket that this is September, has not much to look back on except the greatness of his own effort and the beauty of his patience. It has been a sad summer for those who try to tickle the earth. On the Pelion of a cold July piled the Ossa of a wet August.

"Some of the green corn has been gathered to the boiling pot. Other ears give promise of reaching manhood in early October. The tomato vines are all vines and no tomatoes. Melons that were as tenderly nurtured as king's children have given up the battle and lie dying on their shingles. In any potato patch, on any evening, may be seen the owner grieving like Marius among the ruins of Carthage.

"Some observers who have watched the apparently discouraging effect of weather like this year's on amateur gardeners have been inclined to fear that the heart of the planting world will be broken and that back yards will be abandoned to the thistle and the baseball game. But they reckon in vain. The hawk to the windswept sky, as the poet says, and the commuting planter to his rake and hoe as the magnet to the pole.

"The amateur gardener is a sage. He says to himself that if he and his like succeeded every year the millions of farmers would fail. And he knows that 1921 will be a perfect season."

In another column will be found an appeal to ex-service men to fill out the record blanks which have been distributed for the purpose of acquiring material for the history of Andover in the Great War.

Andover and the local post of the American Legion are singularly fortunate in having such a man as Dr. Fuess to undertake the work and the least that each man can do to assist in the collection of accurate and complete records and to see that all such material is immediately put into the hands of Dr. Fuess.

The filling out and mailing of the blank entails but a few moments work and it is unfortunate that the carelessness of even a few should delay or interfere with the completion of the history.

Attend Insurance Convention

Mr. and Mrs. Burton S. Flagg, Mr. and Mrs. Frederic G. Moore and Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Brigham have been in Boston this week attending the sessions of the Convention of the National Association of Mutual Insurance Companies and the Federation of Mutual Fire Insurance companies which have been held at the Copley-Plaza Hotel from Monday until this noon.

Burton S. Flagg, president and treasurer of the Merrimack Mutual Fire Insurance Co. and president of the Mutual Fire Insurance Association of Boston was toastmaster at the banquet held on Thursday evening. Rev. E. Victor Bigelow of the South Church was a guest of the association and offered grace.

On Wednesday afternoon the clerks of the Merrimack Mutual Fire Insurance company enjoyed a trip down Boston harbor with delegates to the convention. The local party included Misses Louise Hardy, Adah Hall, Katherine Berry, Ruth Gates, Bertha Ladd, Edith Kendall, Anna Brady, Alice Barrett, Pauline Sanderson, Marion Abbott, Katherine Paul, Edna Chisholm, Christine Marland, Rachel Somerville, Louise Shiebler, Esther Batchelder and Mrs. Laura Fuhlman.

Celebrated Eightieth Birthday

On Saturday, September 11, Mrs. Olive J. Holt of 22 Maple avenue, reached her eightieth birthday.

In the afternoon the old Maple avenue neighbors called to pay their respects, and also a few relatives and friends, and in the evening the old members of Wm. F. Bartlett Relief Corp. called.

Mrs. Holt received a shower of birthday cards, a profusion of beautiful flowers, together with books, fruit, vegetables, confectionery and money, including a five-dollar gold piece from the Relief Corp as is their custom when their members reach that age.

Seventy-four callers registered their names in her birthday book. Refreshments were served and the birthday cake tested. The weather was perfect, which added much to the enjoyment of the occasion.

Miss Myrtle Livingston, a niece of Mrs. Holt's, favored the company in the afternoon with musical selections, and singing of war songs by the Relief Corps in the evening brought to a close a happy birthday.

Young Men Going West

Three well-known young men of the town left this week for California and Washington. William Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. David M. Scott of Walnut avenue has started for Alameda, Cal., and will later take up life on a ranch.

Robert Christie and George Napier are also to try their fortune in the West and left Tuesday for Seattle, Washington. Both are ex-service men; Mr. Christie was in the service in the Airplane Division, while Mr. Napier was overseas through the whole of the war with the 102 F. A., Y. D.

Miss Mary L. Cole of 130 Main street has entered Lawrence Commercial school.

Smith & Dove Win Baseball Championship of Andover

The Smith & Dove baseball team won the baseball championship of Andover by defeating the Andover K of C. team Saturday afternoon on the Andover Playstead, 9 to 5.

Two-base hits, McDonald. Sacrifice fly, Partridge. Sacrifice hits, Welch, Allison, Lynch, Trow, Partridge, Ellsley, and Morley. Stolen bases, Porter 2, Chandler. Double plays, Partridge to Porter, Dalton to Dumlich to McDonald. First base on balls, off Allison 5. Struck out, by Allison 1, by Ellsley 1. Passed ball, Partridge. Umpire, Fitzpatrick.

Smith and Dove were without Payne, Killacky and Morrissey but had little trouble in disposing of the Knights and made it three straight. Ellsley pitched, and outside of the first inning, when four singles earned two runs he twirled excellent ball. He was steady all the way and did not give a pass. Porter took Payne's place at third and turned in a fine afternoon's work both in the field and at the bat. Morley was given a chance in left field and took everything that came his way. Even with these changes the Knights never had a look-in and Smith and Dove put the game on ice in the first three innings scoring 8 runs.

The K. of C. had to look around for a pitcher as Dane did not appear and Allison was pressed into service. Hegarty of North Andover was again behind the bat and the team was otherwise the same as played Labor Day. Bowman and Welch were the only two who played up to their usual game and between them accepted twenty-three chances.

Smith and Dove's infield while making three errors which counted in K. of C. runs played a great game and again showed marked superiority over their opponents. Two double plays were pulled off. Partridge executing one in the first which stopped the Knights scoring. Dalton started another in the sixth which also ripped a rally.

There was less enthusiasm than in the previous games as the followers of the game were prepared to see Smith and Dove win. The attendance was the smallest of the series.

Porter, Dalton, MacDonald and Deyermund led with the stick for Smith and Dove and Cussen, Bowman and McNally for the Knights. Partridge again showed his superiority behind the bat and not a K. of C. runner stole. Three pilfered second on Hegarty.

The result of the series was a big surprise to the K. of C. supporters who at the start felt that it would be an easy victory. After losing a 3-2 seven-inning game, the young players of the Smith and Dove A. A. came back strong and won three straight games which left no question as to their superiority. The series caused much interest in Andover and the attendance at the first three games was the biggest outside of an Andover-Exeter contest.

Considerable credit is due Walter A. Sidley, coach, who took charge of the Smith and Dove team and has had a very successful season.

Punchard Piano Fund

The Punchard Piano Fund has made a good progress during the past week, and with the aid of nineteen new contributors, the total to date is $830.00. With the $1,000 mark in sight, the new piano for Punchard Hall begins to be more of a reality, and plans are being made for the selection of an instrument, which will be purchased as soon as the full amount is in hand.

Contributions, not previously acknowledged, have been received to date as follows:

Automobile Drivers Fined for Over-speeding

In police court before Judge Stone on Tuesday afternoon, Louis Slovin of Lawrence was fined $25 for operating an automobile without a license and $50 for driving at an excessive rate of speed.

Louis Slovin operated the car which collided with Randolph Perry near the corner of Central and School streets on the evening of August 19, inflicting such serious injuries that the young man was on the danger list at the Lawrence General hospital for several weeks.

John G. Bashara of Lawrence pleaded guilty to operating an auto in Andover at an excessive rate of speed and was fined $25. He appealed, but afterwards reconsidered and paid the fine.

The case of George McCarthy of Magnolia avenue was continued until September 21. He is charged with operating a truck without a license. McCarthy was driving up Main street last spring and when near the residence of Dr. Look, Thomas Corbett attempted to swing onto the truck and falling beneath the wheels sustained such injuries that he died at the Lawrence General hospital a few hours later.

On Thursday afternoon a case of assault was heard in which Mrs. James Currie appeared as the defendant and Mrs. Edward Hagan of Baker's Lane as the complainant. Mrs. Currie was found guilty and fined the costs of court. She was also placed under a $200 bond to keep the peace.

Patrick Doherty appeared before Judge Stone on a charge of drunkenness, was found guilty and fined $5.00.
